RA Capital Advisors LLC is pleased to announce another successful transaction.

Transaction Highlights

- RA Capital Advisors LLC is pleased to announce that FOBA, the laser marking and engraving business unit of Gerber Scientific, Inc., has been acquired by ALLTEC, a division of Danaher Corp.
- FOBA provides specialized machines for laser marking and engraving of products in several industries including medical, minting, security ID card and solar.
- Gerber acquired FOBA as part of its October 2008 acquisition of Virtek Vision International, Inc.
- RA Capital Advisors serves as Gerber's financial advisor, and assisted Gerber with its prior acquisition of Virtek, and with its current divestiture of FOBA.
- The Virtek purchase and subsequent sale of FOBA is consistent with Gerber's strategy to acquire highly strategic assets, and to divest non-core business units.
- The transaction reinforces RA Capital Advisors' position as a leading financial advisor on both buy- and sell-side engagements.
 - Successfully developed effective strategies for a divestiture with multiple bidders and interested parties.

About RA Capital Advisors

RA Capital Advisors is a private investment bank. Our differentiated advisory model is focused on building long-term relationships that create value for our clients. Artful positioning of companies and deal structuring are core competencies that have led to the execution of transactions by our firm and its principals totaling more than $60 billion.

Participation by senior professionals at virtually all stages of the transaction ensures that our clients receive the sophistication and expertise of leading Wall Street advisors with the intense, senior level attention of a private investment bank.

The best interests of our clients always come first: we work with management and the Board to help determine the best course of action. If a transaction is appropriate, we help minimize management distraction and ease the complexity of the process. In contrast, if a transaction is not in a company's best interest, we will advise against it.
